Prince Andrew deadline over sex assault case

THE Duke of York must answer questions in a civil sex assault case in the US by mid-July next year, a US judge ruled.

Virginia Giuffre, 38, has accused Prince Andrew of sexually assaulting her in New York in 2001.

The 61-year-old duke (above), the Queen's second son, has consistently denied the allegation.

Depositions – out-of-court testimony – in the case must be submitted by July 14, district judge Lewis Kaplan said.

In the US, depositions see witnesses interviewed under oath by the other side's lawyers about their version of events.

The judge also ruled in the scheduling order, which is signed by lawyers for both parties, that a pre-trial order, which sets out the course of the case, is due by July 28.

COVID vaccines 'winning battle'

THE UK is not yet "on top" of the pandemic but the COVID-19 vaccines are "winning the battle", an expert has said.

Professor Anthony Harnden, deputy chairman of the Joint Committee on Vaccination and Immunisation (JCVI), said the UK is making "really good progress" but urged people "not to throw it all away" and get a booster jab when invited to do so.

"I think the vaccines are winning the battle. Though infection rates are really quite high, death rates are relatively low compared to what they were in the first and second waves," Dr Harnden said.

MORE THAN JUST A FOOTBALL MANAGER

Tributes to Rangers legend Walter Smith

FORMER Rangers, Everton and Scotland manager Walter Smith has died at the age of 73.

Smith achieved legendary status at Ibrox, with 21 trophies in two spells making him the second most successful Rangers boss ever behind Bill Struth.

He won the latter seven titles of Rangers' nine-in-a-row run in the 1990s and returned to Ibrox in 2007.

Between those stints, he had four years at Everton and two with Scotland before returning to the Glasgow club.

His second spell in charge delivered three more titles and a Uefa Cup final appearance in 2008.

His death comes in the same year Rangers clinched their first top-flight title since Smith's final season in charge in 2011.

Club chairman Douglas Park commented: "It is almost impossible to encapsulate what Walter meant to every one of us at Rangers."

Leader

"He embodied everything that a Ranger should be. His character and leadership was second to none and will live long in the memory of everyone he worked with during his two terms as first team manager."

"Walter will be sorely missed by all of us at Rangers. For Rangers supporters, he was much more than just a football manager. Walter was a friend to many, a leader, an ambassador and, most of all, a legend."

As a defender, Smith played more than 200 games for Dundee United, where he began his coaching career under Jim McLean at the age of 29 when a pelvic injury forced him to retire.

He also turned out for Dumbarton and was assistant to Sir Alex Ferguson at the 1986 World Cup.

Smith had a three-month spell as Ibrox chairman in 2013 but resigned the position after a period of bitter infighting within the boardroom.

Rangers confirmed in March that Smith was recovering in hospital following an operation.

Attenborough: Act NOW or it'll be too late

SIR David Attenborough has issued a warning ahead of the UN climate summit in Glasgow that leaders must act now or "it'll be too late" for the planet.

Cop26 has been billed as the last best chance to keep global temperature rises to no more than 1.5C, with Sir David (above) critical of those who deny the climate crisis.

The naturalist and broadcaster, 95, told the BBC: "Every month that passes, it becomes more and more incontrovertible, the changes to the planet that we are responsible for that are having these devastating effects."

"If we don't act now, it will be too late. We have to do it now."

He added: "We caused it, our kind of industrialisation is one of the major factors in producing this change in climate. So we have a moral responsibility."

"Even if we didn't cause it, we would have a moral responsibility to do something about thousands of men, women and children who've lost everything, everything."

"Can we just say goodbye and say this is no business of ours?"

Activists scale DEFRA building

ENVIRONMENTAL campaigners who have scaled a government building in Westminster say they plan to stay there "indefinitely".

Four activists from Animal Rebellion, an offshoot of Extinction Rebellion, used ladders, ropes and harnesses to climb the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (Defra) office as high as "20 metres" at around 6am on Tuesday.

The group, which also let off flares, says it is demanding an end to subsidies for meat and dairy farming in a protest against climate change.

They plan to stay in place until Boris Johnson pledges to urge all world leaders to also end such subsidies when they attend the Cop26 summit.

PAIN AT THE PUMPS Drivers told: Brace for £1.50 a litre

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

MOTORISTS have been warned they could face a winter of rising fuel prices as petrol hit an all-time high.

The average UK price of petrol hit 142.94p a litre on Monday, beating the former record, set in April 2012, by 0.46p, according to the AA.

Meanwhile, diesel reached 146.5p a litre on Sunday, short of its all-time high of 147.93p. RAC data shows the price of unleaded has rocketed by 28p a litre in a year from 114.5p in October 2020, adding £15 to the cost of filling up a family car.

The motoring company called it a 'truly dark day for drivers', which coincides with the expansion of London's Ultra Low Emission Zone (ULEZ) that will leave another 130,000 drivers facing a £12.50-a-day charge.

The motoring group has said fuel price rises are mainly due to the rapidly increasing cost of oil, which has gone from $40 a barrel a year ago to $85 now.

But it says the introduction of E10, a new petrol blend which contains less carbon, has also had an impact.

But there's WORSE to come, say experts. Simon Williams, an RAC spokesman, said: "This is truly a dark day for drivers and one which we hoped we wouldn't see again after the high prices of April 2012."

"It will hurt many household budgets and no doubt have knock-on implications for the wider economy.

"The big question now is: where will it stop and what price will petrol hit?"

"If oil gets to $100 a barrel, we could see the average price climb to 150p a litre."

The margin retailers are taking on every litre sold is also greater than it was prior to the start of the pandemic, putting further upward pressure on prices.

Tight

Small business owners said the price rises were pushing their firms 'to the brink'.

Drew Robinson, of JToB Apothecary, said: "As a small business with tight margins, every cost hike wherever it is has a significant impact."

"I'm seeing income dwindle away and I'm powerless to do anything about it."

"These petrol price increases are taking my business to the brink."

RAC fuel spokesman Simon Williams said: "Even though many people aren't driving as much as they have in the past due to the pandemic, drivers tell us they are just as reliant on their cars and many simply don't have a choice but to drive."

"Those on lower incomes who have to drive to work will seriously struggle to find the extra money for the petrol they so badly need."

"We urge the government to help ease the burden at the pumps by temporarily reducing VAT, and for the biggest retailers to bring the amount they make on every litre of petrol back down to the level it was prior to the pandemic."

MAN ADMITS STALKING LOUISE MINCHIN

A MAN has been warned he faces jail after pleading guilty to stalking former BBC Breakfast presenter Louise Minchin.

Carl Davies, 44, was due to face trial at Caernarfon Crown Court on Tuesday for stalking Minchin (left) and her adult daughter Mia by posting intimidating comments on their Instagram accounts.

He changed his pleas to guilty before a jury was sworn in.

Davies, of Flint, North Wales, has previously been given a suspended prison sentence for stalking Girls Aloud singer Nicola Roberts.

Judge Nicola Saffman said: "This is a repeat offence and the content of messages which was sent was extremely alarming, very serious, very intimidating and clearly was intended to maximise the distress of the complainants."

She adjourned sentencing for a psychiatric report to be prepared on the former soldier, who claims to be suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD).

She added: "I need this to be very clear for Mr Davies that the most likely outcome will be a sentence of immediate imprisonment."

AMANDA Holden once again sent temperatures soaring as she slipped into a tiny blue bikini for sizzling new Instagram snaps as she continued her idyllic family holiday.

The Britain's Got Talent judge, 50, looked incredible as she showed off her toned physique in the colourful two-piece.

She posed in front of green foliage before enjoying a carefree stroll down the beach while blowing bubbles.

In her latest posts, Amanda, who donned dark sunglasses, flaunted her washboard abs and toned physique as she struck a sultry pose.

The beauty then flashed a dazzling smile as she looked back at the camera on the beach, while her blonde locks were styled into tousled beach waves.

But when the photos were published on the website of the hate-filled Daily Mail, poor Amanda – whose only sin was to break Les Dennis's heart by having an extramarital affair with Boon star Neil Morrissey – was showered with FILTH!

And, even by the standards of the Mail's warped readers, the abuse was X-rated.

A reader calling themselves Banana Split 99 leered: "Would get it plums deep."

Erect

This reference alludes to the fact that Mr Split would like to insert his erect penis into Amanda's vagina, right up to the so-called "hinge end".

It is not known if Amanda shaves the hair off her vagina.

Another slobbered: "Would love that sitting on my face."

While yet another gurgled "I'm going to have to clean my keyboard now", which suggests the online fiend ejaculated SPUNK from his COCK on seeing Amanda's pictures.

A pal of the Heart FM presenter said: "All Mail readers can think about is her moist fanny. 'It's not on.'"

2 hookers left in city rocked by serial killer

POLICE have revealed "a couple" of sex workers are currently on the streets of a city once terrorised by a serial killer.

Officers in Ipswich say most of the women have now exited street prostitution after receiving support.

Suffolk Police and Ipswich Borough Council have been working with other agencies to keep women off the streets since five sex workers were murdered 15 years ago by Suffolk strangler Steve Wright (above).

Supt Jane Topping said: "In 2006, there were around 30 sex workers on the streets of Ipswich."

"After some targeted engagement, only a couple remain."

"After 2006, Suffolk was the first county in the country to look at ways to support women exploited for sex by providing help, support and rehabilitation for them to overcome the issues in their lives."

LIZ: MY SEXY PEANUT BUTTER SECRET!

By GRACE HOOPER

ELIZABETH Hurley feels younger than ever at 56... and her secret is PEANUT BUTTER!

The British actress and model, who has gone viral for her sizzling bikini snaps, revealed her recipe for staying in shape.

"I haven't eaten processed food for 100 years," the star revealed.

"I don't eat sweets. I drink little alcohol. I don't smoke, but I deeply regret that I once did."

"I stopped smoking 10 years ago. But I can't give up the Nicorette."

"I have learned to eat lighter and not so late. I think one of the most transformative things that I've done is making 50 per cent of what I eat vegetable matter.

"If you have a slice of toast for breakfast, have an apple too. Counteract everything with vegetables."

And when it comes to going under the knife, Hurley said she's not a fan of excess plastic surgery.

"No! I don't think it makes you look younger, I think it just makes you look like you've got filler," she said.

"It's not my cup of tea."

She believes mindset is just as important.

"I am more immature by the moment, my son is more mature than me," she said.

"I used to be grown-up but I've lost it."

However, the star has one weakness – peanut butter.

"I have one spoon, then another, and I've emptied the jar before you know it," Hurley admitted.

A fan said: "That seems appropriate because when I see those pics of Liz Hurley, I manage to empty my nutsack and my pants get filled with nut butter."

"And by 'nut butter', I mean spunk."

Baldwin docu shelved after fatal shooting

A DOCUMENTARY narrated by Alec Baldwin has had its North American release postponed after the actor fatally shot a cinematographer with a prop gun on the set of a film.

British production company Montrose Pictures said Flint: Who Can You Trust? will no longer arrive in the US and Canada later this month.

The documentary, exploring a water crisis in Flint, Michigan, and narrated by Baldwin (above), was broadcast by the BBC and remains available on iPlayer.

It was due to arrive in cinemas in cities including Los Angeles, New York and Toronto on October 29 but those plans have been shelved.

And a fundraising campaign launched before the fatal shooting of Halyna Hutchins, aiming to widen the release of Flint, has been paused.

Flint's director Anthony Baxter said: "Out of the deepest respect for all those affected by this terrible tragedy, we feel now is not the time to release the documentary."

New rule for lapdancers is not fanny!

AN English council has banned FANNIES!

North East Derbyshire District Council has put together a draft Sex Establishment Policy, which sets out proposed new rules for sex shops, cinemas and entertainment premises. And one of the rules states that lapdancers must wear, at least, a non-transparent g-string, so that minges are not visible during their performances.

Dancers are also banned from uttering words like "cock" and "fanny" to punters.

The draft policy also stipulates that customers are not allowed to throw money at dancers and must remain at least 30cm away from them at all times.

Steve Irwin's sexy niece goes topless for the first time to plug her x-rated website

STRIP TEASER: Rebecca shows off hot bod

TRAGIC Crocodile Hunter Steve Irwin's "hot niece" Rebecca Lobie has gone fully topless for the first time to plug her X-rated website.

Rebecca made headlines in July when she launched her subscription-based adult website.

And this week she gave prospective subscribers a glimpse at what's behind her paywall as she posed topless for a very raunchy Instagram snap.

Rebecca concealed part of her bare chest with a pink bar to comply with under-fire Instagram's "no teat" policy.

"What are you waiting for?" Rebecca teased her fans with the caption.

It comes as the busty beauty continues to encourage fans to pay a £4 monthly fee for access to her 'exclusive' content.

For an additional £40, Rebecca says one video shows her 'fully naked... with just the seat belts covering up my [lemon emoji].

"But don't worry, I made sure to pull back to give you a full view. We are just getting started," she added.

For an extra £24, she promises a 'nip slip' in a three-photo gallery.

Control

Rebecca, who is the daughter of Steve Irwin's sister Joy and her husband Frank Muscillo, resigned from Australia Zoo in December 2015.

In a recent interview, she explained her new website is similar to subscription site OnlyFans, but she will use her own branding so she has 'more control'.

"Having another platform to be able to share my content is something I have wanted to do for a while now and has always been a big request from people," she said.

"I love creating content and engaging with my fans and this is another way I can."

Speaking about her decision to shun OnlyFans, Rebecca added: "It has the same features if not more. I will be posting exclusive content, chatting with fans and going live."

Her uncle Steve, famed worldwide for his nature shows and catchphrase "Crikey!", died in 2006 after being speared in the heart by a stingray.

Under-fire facebook makes £6.5BILLION in 3 MONTHS!

WHISTLEBLOWER: Frances Haugen

FACEBOOK has recorded third quarter earnings of £6.5billion as it weathers a storm of blistering claims from a former employee.

A backlash against the technology firm has been intensifying since The Wall Street Journal reported last month that Facebook's own internal research concluded its algorithms helped foster political dissent and contributed to mental health and emotional problems among teenagers, especially girls.

Whistleblower Frances Haugen spoke with MPs and peers on Monday afternoon about the company's inner workings.

The data engineer went public earlier this year with thousands of pages of internal research documents she secretly copied before quitting her job in the firm's civic integrity unit.

Ms Haugen told a joint committee that Facebook is "very good at dancing with data" and claimed the firm's own research showed Instagram is more dangerous for teenagers than other social media such as TikTok and Snapchat.

Facebook has repeatedly rejected her claims, saying her attacks on the company were "misrepresenting" the work it does.

Earlier this month, the Health Secretary demanded the company "publish what they know" about the harm its platforms cause to children after an internal study found 17% of teenage girls said the Facebook-owned Instagram made their eating disorders worse.

Sajid Javid criticised the social media company for not sharing the study with parents, healthcare professionals and politicians, adding that it must "do the right thing" and publish information it holds.

'Greg the Egg' sex toy joy for Succession fans

SUCCESSION fans now have another way to become even more obsessed with the show.

An adult sex toy, affectionately titled "Greg the Egg", is now available for viewers.

The device is programmed to "pair" with Lovense brand sex toys and then vibrate every time awkward Succession character cousin Greg, played by Nicholas Braun on the HBO drama, is in a scene.

"The sex toy can be paired with a number of things and controlled remotely," CamSoda VP Daryn Parker said.

"For example, you can pair it to sync with music."

"In the past, CamSoda has had fun pairing it to things like the volatility of crypto currencies."

"For the Greg the Egg offering, since we don't have the show in advance, we are going to have someone control devices remotely."

"So, when Greg appears on screen, we will trigger all the devices that registered to participate to vibrate."

Officers found Bodamer still in the act with his hand down his pants and his eyes closed when they arrived, according to the incident report.

Bodamer quickly removed his hand from his pants and admitted what he had been doing.

Another man and his wife told police they also saw Bodamer exposing himself.

NOW LITTLE HOUSE ON THE PRAIRIE IS RACIST!

Classic TV show is cancelled by Cambridge Uni prodnozes

FOR years it was an innocent Sunday night staple that harked back to a simpler time...

But now PC prodnozes are trying to cancel the books on which iconic TV show Little House on the Prairie was based.

Classic children's books in a Cambridge University archive will in future be labelled with 'trigger warnings' for 'harmful content relating to slavery, colonialism and racism'.

Researchers are reviewing more than 10,000 books and magazines to expose authors who have been 'offensive to historically enslaved, colonised or denigrated people'.

It comes after anti-racist campaigners demanded teachers censor racial slurs when reading out the text of Harper Lee's To Kill A Mockingbird.

The archive at Cambridge's Homerton College is being reviewed as part of a move to upload texts to a digital library.

Day care woman hid kids behind false wall

A WOMAN has been jailed for six years for hiding children inside her at home day care.

Carla Faith was licensed to care for up to six kids at one time but cops in Colorado Springs, Colorado, found 26 children in an area of her home hidden by a false wall.

Many of the children were found with soiled or wet nappies and were sweaty and thirsty, according to an arrest affidavit.

Parents of some of the victims told a judge their children still suffered from sleeping problems, anxiety and other trauma from the ordeal.

Faith was convicted by a jury in August on 26 counts of child abuse, attempting to influence a public servant and obstructing a peace officer.

HARMFUL?

Charles Kingsley's 1863 children's classic about a young chimney sweep, is described as having the potential to 'harm readers without warning' for comments about Irish and black people.

L Frank Baum, author of The Wonderful Wizard Of Oz, is also cited for 'white supremacy' in his Bandit Jim Crow, written under the pen name of Laura Bancroft.

The project is being paid for by a £80,633 grant from the taxpayer-funded UK Arts and Humanities Research Council.

"Upon making contact with the principal and the assistant principal, they advised that they had been made aware of a rumour both by a teacher and by a student that there were some inappropriate messages sent from a teacher to a student," the arrest report said.

Battle was booked into the Roane County Jail.

Franklin County Superior Court Judge Francis Flannery said: "This is one of the most horrific set of facts I have ever heard."

Mocking

Prosecutors said art teacher Hachiyonagi knocked on the door of Dr Savoy requesting emotional support following a breakup.

After being let in, Hachiyonagi attacked Dr Savoy, torturing and mocking her for four hours.

District Attorney Matthew Thomas described the ordeal as "random savagery".

The professor of environmental studies and geology finally managed to convince Hachiyonagi to call for help, but Dr Savoy was left with mental and physical trauma, some of which is permanent.

Hachiyonagi told Dr Savoy that she had been in love with her and became agitated, saying Dr Savoy should have been aware of her feelings.

While sitting on top of Dr Savoy as she was on the floor, Hachiyonagi mocked her injuries, which included broken bones, fractures in her face, multiple stab wounds and a major loss of blood.

Hachiyonagi told Dr Savoy that she was probably going to die.

After lying about having romantic feelings for Hachiyonagi, Dr Savoy managed to convince her to call emergency services.

VICTIM: Dr Savoy (below)

Hachiyonagi pleaded guilty to three counts of armed assault with intent to murder a person over 60, three counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon on a person over 60 and one count each of home invasion, mayhem and entering in the nighttime with intent to commit a felony. She was jailed for 10 years.

Machete clown in drugs bust

JUST in time for Halloween, cops arrested a machete-wielding, bike-riding clown.

The bizarre incident unfolded when cops were called to an apparent fight, in which a man "wearing a clown mask and carrying a machete had dragged another guy out of a nearby business", authorities in Guelph, Canada, said.

Police said their investigation "revealed the original interaction at the business was over drugs" and a search of the masked man allegedly revealed fentanyl, drug paraphernalia, as well as a stolen debit card and driver's licence.

The clown, 36, was not publicly identified. He is facing multiple charges.

PILOT HID SPY CAM IN GIRL'S WINDOW

AN airline pilot was arrested for hiding a spy camera in the bedroom window of a college student.

Vernon Crider, 55, was charged by cops after the hidden cam was spotted by the 19-year-old girl, according to a police report.

Police said the recovered "mini hidden spy pen camera" had a SIM card with photos of what appeared to be an airplane cockpit as well as a hotel room.

A deleted image recovered from the card also showed a legal settlement with Crider's signature.

A search of a Federal Aviation Administration database revealed Crider to be a licensed airline pilot currently working for Frontier Airlines.

Crider (left) was arrested in Missouri on charges of burglary of an occupied dwelling and attempted video voyeurism.

He is in the Orange County Jail in Florida.

THOSE Yanks just HAVE to be different, don't they?

Not only do they call lifts "elevators" and forget to put the letter U in colour, they also have a different Chocolate Day to the rest of the world.

World Chocolate Day, as reported in Midweek Sport back in the summer, falls in July.

But the Americans, for reasons best known to themselves, celebrate the tasty treats in all its forms in October.

Still, we're not complaining, because it gives us another chance to print five pages of busty babes either eating, or covered in, the stuff.

THE abduction of Stephanie Slater shocked a nation. The West Midlands estate agent, 26, was taken during an appointment in Great Barr and held in a makeshift coffin by one-legged killer Michael Sams for eight days in 1992.

A lead came when Sams demanded a ransom and the manager of Stephanie's estate agents followed instructions to deliver cash to a disused railway line in the Yorkshire Pennines.

Police saw it as an opportunity to catch the kidnapper and save her, but Sams managed to slip away with the cash by speeding from the scene on a moped.

Stephanie was eventually freed after ransom money was paid to her kidnapper and she would later help convict him of murdering 18-year-old Julie Dart, who he had abducted and killed a year earlier in Leeds.

Former detective Mike Layton would later write a book about the cases – and especially the “dark moment” when they thought their man had given them the slip.

STEPHANIE Slater's life would be altered forever on a day that started like any other.

Michael Sams had arranged to meet her for what she thought would be a routine house viewing on Turnberry Road, Great Barr.

There didn't seem to be anything out of the ordinary.

But in an upstairs bedroom, Sams attacked her, tied her up and bundled her into a car.

She was held captive at a

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

workshop in Nottinghamshire, where for eight days she was blindfolded, bound and gagged, while being kept in a home-made coffin inside a wheelie bin which had been laid horizontal.

Within hours Sams made a £175,000 ransom demand, crucially providing police with hope he was intending to keep her alive.

Mike Layton headed up an intelligence unit from his base at Nechells Police Station and was tasked with trying to find out who the kidnapper was and where Stephanie was being held.

He said: “Everybody was absolutely committed, while she was still missing, to finding her alive.”

“Officers were working non-stop, with a bit of sleep in between.”

“The whole emphasis was on praying, hoping, working towards the safe recovery of her.”

Stephanie was eventually freed when Sams dumped her at the end of the street where she lived.

Investigators had, however, been given a crucial early lead, thanks to the kidnapper himself.

By calling to demand payment, he had also diverted attention to his whereabouts.

Glamour

While he was careful to dial from a phone box at a service station, the call was traced to Nottinghamshire.

The caller was described as having an accent local to that area and so straight away police pinpointed an area of interest.

Officers worked flat out trying to gather all the intelligence they could.

Modern cop dramas present investigative work with shiny offices and a touch of glamour, but Mike Layton's surroundings were far less fancy.

He wrote in his Reporting For Duty book how he “ran the team from two Portakabins in the back yard of the police station”.

It became the nerve centre in the hunt to identify the kidnapper and find out where he was keeping Ms Slater captive.

Theories and clues were mapped out on the wall of one of the cabins.

The investigation had built to a crucial juncture, but morale amongst the team plummeted when an opportunity to catch Sams was missed.

The manager of Stephanie's estate agents followed the kidnapper's instructions to deliver a cash ransom to a bridge over a disused railway line in the Yorkshire Pennines.

It was the chance the team had been waiting for. But despite covert policing methods, Sams was able to slip away with the cash.

He had ordered the money to be left on a tray on the bridge.

Once the bag of cash was left, he tugged a cord attached to the tray and used a moped to get away to avoid being tracked.

It came as a bitter blow to Mike Layton and other officers leading the case, who described it as a “black moment”.

Detectives began to fear the worst.

Their leverage had gone and they, and Stephanie, were now at the mercy of Sams.

He had the money

COPS WHO CATCH KILLERS

MURDER VICTIM:

and so, in theory, had no reason to keep her alive.

It was a tremendous sense of relief when Stephanie was dumped, alive, at the end of the road where she lived.

Sams again managed to escape as he drove away into the night, but Mike Layton said it was simply unthinkable that he would be allowed to win.

Detectives were able to narrow down a search area based on predictions of the minimum and maximum times Stephanie would have travelled.

IN FRIDAY'S WEEKEND Sport

HUNTER AND THE HUNTED: Mike Layton (right) was the cop tasked with catching Sams (left)

EIGHT DAYS IN COFFIN: Stephanie Slater and (below left) Sams' house where she was held captive sent out on motorbikes to drive the routes being considered.

Officers got very close to Sams' workshop of horrors, but Mike Layton said it was just one possibility in a "haystack".

The glare of the press put added pressure on investigators, but it would ultimately be the power of the media which would bring down the kidnapper.

He said: "The issue as always with the press is how much you tell them, how much you talk in confidence and how much you keep from them."

"In my experience it was often down to personal relationships, if that trust was there."

"The force was under a lot of pressure. It just was a huge inquiry."

"With the dynamics of the Julie Dart murder, the inquiry became even more challenging."

Although officers felt they were getting closer, they decided it was time to try to use the help of the public.

A recording of Sams' voice from the ransom calls, aired on BBC's Crimewatch show, was recognised by his first wife.

It was the crucial breakthrough detectives were waiting for and led to Sams' arrest.

Ordeal

The police had got their man and Sams eventually confessed to kidnapping Stephanie.

He was jailed for life for the abduction of Stephanie and the murder of Julie Dart, after Stephanie gave evidence against him.

Tragically, Stephanie died in 2017, aged 50, following a battle with cancer.

Friends said she never truly got over her eight-day ordeal.

She shared how while in captivity she was told she'd be electrocuted if she tried to move.

When she was allowed out of the coffin for food, she chatted about herself to Sams "to humanise" herself and to increase her chances of survival.

She moved to the Isle of Wight and wrote a book, Beyond Fear: My Will to Survive, about her time in captivity, and worked with police forces to improve the treatment of kidnap victims.

In 2011 she said: "Before this happened, I had a boyfriend, a job and a company car. I had loads of friends and a great social life."

"But he took everything and destroyed the next 20 years of my life."

Sams, now 80, remains behind bars, where he has continued to offend.

He attacked a female probation officer with a metal spike and had eight years added to his prison term.

No recommended minimum term was reported at his trial and it is unknown whether any Home Secretary or high court judge subsequently ruled how many years he must serve before he can be considered for parole.

He is among the oldest and longest-serving life sentence prisoners in England and Wales.

KILLER SON CHOPPED UP HIS MUM

Maniac hid bloody bits in packing crate

SEIZED: Barnes and the crate

A MAN murdered his mother, dismembered her corpse and hid the remains in a specially-built crate inside his garage.

Family members told cops they had not heard from 72-year-old Lucila Barnes for days despite multiple attempts to get in touch with her.

And when they attempted to visit the victim's home in Harris County, Texas, her son Robert Barnes approached them wielding a shotgun and allegedly pointed the firearm at members of the family.

Cops sent to the property to carry out a welfare check were met outside by an "uncooperative" Barnes brandishing a gun.

Grisly

Sgt. Jason Brown said Barnes "wouldn't let anybody else inside the house", including cops.

After giving "several conflicting stories" about his mother's whereabouts, a search warrant was obtained.

On entering the home, they discovered "a large amount of blood".

Homicide and Crime Scene Units were then called to the scene.

A "large wooden crate was discovered in the garage", police said.

Investigators made a grisly discovery, as the crate contained Lucila's dismembered body.

Barnes, 36, allegedly admitted to fatally shooting and then dismembering his mother in an interview following his arrest.

When he appeared before a magistrate judge for a probable cause hearing, new details about the crime were unveiled.

Prosecutors alleged that Barnes had made the box to store his mother's dismembered remains a month earlier.

Barnes "confessed that he shot his mother multiple times and mutilated her body to fit into this box", the magistrate judge said.

Barnes is in the Harris County Jail.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Stop worshipping the NHS

A BLOKE working for the posh Sunday Times did the unthinkable at the weekend.

He slagged off the NHS. Writer Matthew Syed argued that the institution isn't actually the religion some people make it out to be.

He reasonably suggested people stop worshipping the sodding thing and started looking at it like they look at every other people-funded property.

To improve stuff we all use at some stage, he said, means we have to look at them critically.

And, crucially, not be afraid to say when something is quite clearly a bit shit.

The comments underneath his article's online version were interestingly split.

I expected most of them to be from people recoiling in horror at even the suggestion of a suggestion that the NHS is not all its cracked up to be.

But no. A good, healthy percentage were from normal, everyday people saying "finally!" and "thank god somebody's finally said it".

And now I'm going to become one of them.

But let's start first with the obvious.

The NHS is quite the opposite of a bad thing. We all know this. There is no argument there.

Where there is an argument is how much of a good thing it is, and could it be better.

Wizenod

We all know, because we hear it at every single election in living memory, that there is just a mere 24 hours left to save the NHS.

That's all it had left in 1997 when Tony Blair was hoping to get the keys to Number 10.

And it is all it will have left when Keir Starmer, or whoever replaces him, goes up against Boris, or Rishi, or Carrie, in a couple of years' time.

In the intervening quarter of a decade, it's had more near-death experiences than your average Coronation Street character and, just like those wizened old faces on the cobbles, still somehow manages to survive.

Yes, doctors and nurses and auxiliary workers are fab.

And yes, they almost certainly deserve more money in their wage packets.

But would that improve the service they provide to patients?

Quite clearly not.

They're all doing their damndest to do what they can already.

Earning an extra tenner an hour will be great for them affording a new conservatory but it won't make a difference to how much they put in to looking after you and your loved ones.

They ALREADY do that.

The problem is the system itself.

Too many overpaid pricks in suits who wouldn't know one end of a plaster cast from another.

Bizarre job titles that have absolutely no bearing on treating broken limbs, performing surgery, or tending to mentally addled minds.

The Sunday Times fella pointed out that despite what some insist upon, the NHS is far from the "world beating" organisation its cheerleaders claim it to be.

Many other countries have different systems that work much, much better.

We might not like to say it or hear it, but that doesn't mean it isn't true.

(America not included, by the way. That really IS a shit set up.)

Is the NHS a good thing?

Yes, yes, and yes again.

But is it a great thing? No, it isn't.

And the sooner we start acting like grown-ups about the NHS, instead of worshipping it like it was Jesus, it never will be, either.

make it better!

Pastor nicked after 2 killed in 'human sacrifice'

A VICAR and 41 of his congregants were arrested after two people were killed during an alleged "human sacrifice".

Kevin O. Smith, a self-proclaimed "prophet", and the church members were seized after 39-year-old office worker Tanecka Gardner and an unidentified man had their throats slit.

On the day of the murders, Smith ordered parishioners to dress in white and head to the church.

The pastor (above), who died in a car crash on the way to his first court hearing, wrote on Facebook: "The Ark is loading now! Leave immediately dressed in white... It is a Roman Catholic sacrifice - it will have no survivors."

After Gardner was killed, a man also had his throat slit in a bid to rid his body of "impure" blood.

Three others were hospitalised with life-threatening injuries.

At the scene, in Montego Bay, Jamaica, police found more potential victims, including naked men and animals.

COVID loan liar blew money on Pokemon card

A MAN has been charged with fraud after lying to get a COVID business relief loan, then blowing it on a POKEMON card!

Vinath Oudomsine, of Dublin, Georgia, was supposed to use his Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) to cover business expenses.

Prosecutors said Oudomsine falsely applied for the EIDL, indicating that he had operated a business that had existed since 2018 with 10 employees on his payroll and yearly revenues of £170,000.

The Small Business Association deposited £61,000 into a bank account belonging to Oudomsine but he used most of that money to purchase the unnamed Pokemon card worth £43,000.

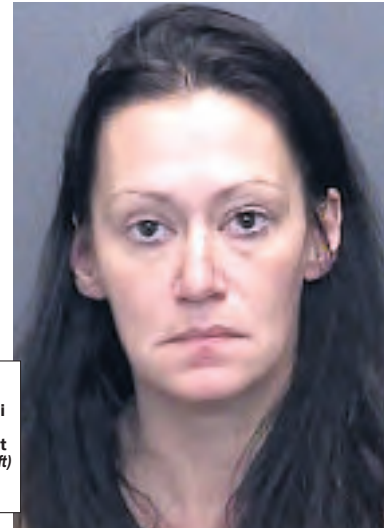

Oudomsine faces up to 20 years in federal prison.

THREESOME BLOODBATH

Romp turns ugly when sex girl's boyfriend comes home unexpectedly

BOOZY ORGY: But Heidi Carter's sexfest at house (left) got two killed

WHEN Heidi Carter set up a threesome with two strangers on a dating app, she expected a booze-fuelled orgy.

But when her boyfriend came home unexpectedly, the bloodbath that followed left two dead.

Carter, 36, is now facing murder and sex assault charges after the man and woman she invited for the romp were tortured for hours and found duct-taped to chairs.

Carter's boyfriend, Carey Hammond, rolled up at the home in Evansville, Indiana, as Carter and the couple were engaged in "sexual activity".

Hammond became "angry" and started beating the man with a baseball bat, according to a police affidavit.

Carter and the other couple had been drinking and taking drugs prior to Hammond's arrival.

Choking

Carter and Hammond then restrained both victims with duct tape and abused them for hours, culminating with Hammond fatally choking the male victim with a belt, police said.

Hammond was later shot dead by cops as he came out of the home with what officers thought was a gun but was actually a piece of metal or plastic that appeared to be one, authorities said.

A police spokeswoman said investigators believe Hammond was trying to provoke cops into fatally shooting him.

The female victim,

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

who said she was sexually assaulted by Carter and Hammond, survived the attack and was taken to hospital.

Carter admitted brandishing a gun and telling both victims she knew how to "get rid of a dead body" but said she only pretended to help to appease Hammond, according to the affidavit.

The grisly aftermath of the romp was discovered by a cleaner, who told police she heard a noise coming from a bedroom and then saw what she thought was a dead body beneath a pile of pillows and blankets.

Hammond tried to keep the cleaner from leaving, but she managed to escape and flag down a passing cop. Officers found the male victim dead inside and a woman who was bound and injured.

Carter is charged with rape, murder, abusing a corpse, criminal confinement with a firearm and related counts.

Demi spreads 'em wide!

IT'S the photo we all wanted to see... dishy Demi Rose with her legs spread wide open!

Alas, we did NOT get to see where the axe fell, as the busty 26-year-old influencer was in a swimming costume.

The sexy model wowed her 18.3 million Instagram followers while soaking up the sun in Beverly Hills, California.

The brown-and-cream outfit left plenty of Demi's flesh exposed.

A fan drooled: "Oh, to pull that gusset aside..."

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Ashleigh,

A FEW weeks ago I pulled a blonde in the pub and we went back to her place. She stripped me off and tied me to the bed.

After a sex show in which she finger-fked herself to orgasm, she guided my dick into her sopping vagina.

The sex was amazing and I had the night of my life but I woke up the next day with a killer hangover.

I was still tied to the bed and when I managed to get free, my wallet and phone had been nicked.

I thought I'd have some explaining to do but when I got in my girlfriend dumped me. Then I realised that I'd been out for two days, not one night. This bird must have drugged me.

Should I tell my girlfriend what happened?

TC, west Yorkshire

Ashleigh says...

THAT won't help you. You cheated on her, she was right to dump you. .

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE known for ages that my best friend's fella is a cheating tosser who has slept with at least three other girls - including me!

A couple of months ago I was on holiday in Spain with two girls from the same college. My pal couldn't get time off work and was stuck at home.

We ran into this bloke, a cocky sod, who talked me into bed. He had a fabulous body and was a great shag.

It was only later, of course, that I learned from my pals that they'd both been shagged by this fella too!

When I got home, it made me realise that I still felt really guilty that I had shagged my best mate's fella.

He wants to see me again and I'm tempted. But should I tell her that I shagged him and that he'll hump anything that moves?

HK, south London

Ashleigh says...

TELL her now, even though it will be painful.

I want to stop wedding after romping with best pal's girl

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been humping my best friend's gorgeous girl for the last three months.

She's a busty brunette in her early 20s and I'm 28.

I'd met her loads of times on nights out with my mate and the rest of our crowd and I'd noticed that we'd often find ourselves chatting about this and that.

But one night I bumped into her in a pub on the other side of town when my pal was away on a business trip.

I chatted her up and she made it clear she was up for it. We did it on the back seat of my car in the pub's car park.

We met more times and I found out how lucky my mate was - she's really horny and loves it doggy-style and also does anal.

My mate is meant to be marrying her next month and I'm the best man.

But I've really fallen for his fiancée and have asked her to marry me instead!

She refused and said I'm just her final fling before she gets wed.

I'm gutted. I'm thinking about telling my mate about our affair so I can stop the wedding.

Do you think I should?

DS, Devon

Ashleigh says....

NO! Just accept she is marrying someone else.

Bet backfired as old school mate boned my wife

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been happily married for five years to a gorgeous blonde with a top figure.

Recently, I started meeting up with some old school pals, but my wife was reluctant to come along.

She eventually agreed – so in order to “show her off” to my old classmates I got her to wear a short skirt and stockings.

My friends were gobsmacked when she walked into the pub and I could see the lust in their eyes as they ogled her fabulous body.

Thrusting

While she was at the loo, one pal said he fancied screwing her – but I told him there was no chance, as she would never be unfaithful to me.

But he bet me £50 that he could get into her pants – which I agreed to take him up on, just for a laugh.

The next week, I took her to the same pub to meet up with the same group.

But after a while I told her I was feeling unwell and had to go back home.

I said she was welcome to stay on and my pal would bring her home later.

I'd arranged with him that on the way home, he would try to get her back to his.

And if she wasn't home by 12.30am, I would go round to his place to see what they were up to.

So later, when she didn't come back to ours, I drove over to his place and spotted the light was on in the lounge and there was a crack in the curtains.

I peered through and was shocked to see my missus kneeling on the rug gorging herself on my mate's dick.

Then he pulled down her panties and spreadeagled her over the settee and began thrusting his seven-inch deep into her sopping quim.

I watched them for a half-hour or so and she had orgasm after orgasm before my mate shot his load deep inside her.

I slipped away and waited at home for her to get back. She finally turned up at about 4.30am, but by then I had fallen asleep.

The next day she told me she had arranged to go out with a girlfriend next week.

But I feel sure she's fixed up another date with my pal.

What can I do?

TF, Lincolnshire

Ashleigh says...

TELL her what you saw – and own up about the bet. You might still save your marriage.

I'm hooked on big boobs

Dear Ashleigh,

I LOVE women with big breasts and believe that anything more than a good handful is more than welcome.

But recently, most of the women I've pulled have left half their breasts on the floor when they've stripped off for action in the bedroom.

I reckon there should be a law against it. What's the point of leading blokes on with curvaceous top bollocks, only to let them down with a bump when they reveal they have hardly any bumps and just a well-padded bra?

Now being a decent sort of chap, I've never kicked them into touch because of this shortfall in flesh and I have even shagged them twice as hard to work off my frustrations.

I get them to put on their padded bras and their knix in the morning if they want a second helping of my love tool.

I quite like the sensation of feeling a gel-filled bra from behind and get a thrill as I ease aside their panties to insert a stiff digit or three before ramming my old soldier up them.

I'm trying to come to terms with all of this, but when you see some of the contraptions these girls wear to boost their flat chests, you'd be amazed.

I hope you don't feel the need to stuff your bras with extra filling to pull blokes.

Am I all alone but normal in my thinking here?

JR, Notts

Ashleigh says...

You seem to be making out all right, you moaning old bastard!

FOR years I felt a bit ashamed of my secret kink, being a sex slave.
But now I totally embrace it!
Nothing turns me on more than being with a man who is dominant by nature and has total control over me.
I love dressing the part in a skimpy leather or PVC outfit, too. It involves being with someone you can totally trust.
I was 25 when I first met a guy I could explore my submissive side with. It was

'I love dressing

#MY SEX FANTASY

with an older man called James who was the first man to flog me from my thighs all the way down to the soles of my feet.

There was also a first with him when he wrapped his hands around my throat. That's so hot!

Even when I'm being 'owned' like this I'm totally in control and can say stop at any point.

I'm not a push over in real life. I suppose I strive to be in control in so many other areas of life that it's an anxiety release to not make any decisions in the bedroom. I feel unburdened.

I can never settle for 'vanilla' sex, sorry!

#HOT'N'HORNY

PORN star Angel Wicky loves ogling her own collection of movies and especially enjoys watching SEX SLAVE SHAGGING.

The exotic beauty, from Czech Republic, said she much prefers bonking indoors than taking things al fresco, because there's tons of kinky stuff she can do behind closed doors.

Angel, who boasts a cracking pair of 32DDs, said: "I like the comfort of shagging indoors and being able to close all the doors and do kinky stuff that no-one else can see, or hear.

"I like to have a comfy bed, decent music to get you in the mood, and access to porn and my large collection of sex toys.

"I love to watch adult movies when I'm with a bloke, just to get us both revved up.

"Watching something hardcore allows you to let your inhibitions really go.

"I watch a lot of S&M stuff, with naughty sex slaves who need punishing by their dominant masters!"

SPECIAL OFFER: ANY 3 PRIVATE SHOPS DVDS FOR £25 (was £75)

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day. Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Small and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

KIMBER DELICE

JON Wellings is begging to see his favourite French model, Kimber Delice, showing off her lovely pair.

The 33-year-old joiner, from Brighton, said: "Kimber's got the whole package – blonde hair, lovely legs and a great pair of 34D boobs. "She's my ideal woman and I'd love to see her in my favourite newspaper again."

"Any chance of a picture of Kimber? It would make my week!"

MICHELLE COLLINS

SHOP worker Glen Marriott has a thing for blonde legends – and they don't come more glamorous than Michelle Collins.

The Preston fella, 46, said: "Michelle's gorgeous, isn't she?"

"She's a classic beauty – like Joan Collins, but naughty."

"I'm into my curvy looking girls, so a photo of Michelle with her lovely 32F boobs out would put a smile on my face!"

Here you go, Glen – the Exeter-born beauty bare!

DEBBIE CORRIGAN

TAXI driver Ken Jones wanted to see a boobs-out snap of 34C stunna Debbie Corrigan – and who are we to deny him?

The 47-year-old, from Swansea, wrote: "Debbie is a proper beauty and I'd love a pic of her."

"There's just something so sexy about Manchester girls – I think it's the accent and that cheeky glint in their eyes."

#HOT'N'HORNY

CURVY Kaitlin Grey LOVES it now that the chillier weather has arrived.

The 32E cracker, from Croydon in south London, said: "I've got loads of nice, thick woolly jumpers and I love feeling all snug in them when the cold wind is blowing from the north."

"There's nothing better than going into a country pub, into the warm and out of the chill."

"Not that we get many nice country pubs around here."

"Croydon's like a bloody shooting gallery these days!"

OFF FORM: Harry Kane

Kane not able to show best for Spurs

HARRY Kane is not "concentrating" when he plays for Tottenham these days.

That's the view of Graeme Souness who is one of many pundits who thinks the England skipper would rather be elsewhere.

Kane's summer move to Man City didn't happen after Spurs chairman Daniel Levy stood firm in the face of a £100m offer.

Since then the No9 has looked a shadow of his former self and was again way off the pace as West Ham won the London derby at the weekend.

Souness thinks Kane isn't putting a proper shift in for struggling Spurs.

He said: "Is that where Harry Kane is right now?"

"Not fully concentrated and looks like he didn't really want to be in that position."

Former West Ham striker Frank McAvennie thinks it's obvious that Kane wants away from Tottenham as soon as possible.

Star

He has scored just one Premier League goal this season.

McAvennie said: "Spurs are suffering in the Premier League because their star man isn't performing."

"Yes, he scored against Newcastle. Most people could have scored against Newcastle last week."

"If Tottenham don't finish in the top six or whatever and Kane has scored 20 odd goals, it's not his fault."

"If they do that this season and he gets 10, for example, it is his fault. He needs to turn his form around."

"Off the ball, he's been offering very little other than in that Newcastle game."

"I really don't think that his heart is in playing for Tottenham."

And it appears that Kane's team-mates are not happy with his performances either.

Paul Scholes claims strike partner Heung Son Min had a pop during the West Ham match.

He said: "You can see how angry Son is there. I don't think Spurs have been brilliant attacking wise."

WHEELS HAVE COME OFF AT OLD TRAFFORD

CONTE WRONG FOR UTD

Legend hopes Reds swerve Italian

ANTONIO Conte would be a bad fit at Manchester United.

That's the verdict of United legend Gary Neville who thinks the Italian stallion's abrasive style is wrong for Old Trafford.

Ole Gunnar Solskjaer is the quiet man compared to Conte who usually comes into a club and shakes things up.

He has a track record of bringing in older players and moving on quickly as happened last season when he won the Italian title for Inter Milan before walking out.

It looks as though Ole's time at the wheel is coming to an end. Now Neville hopes United will tread with caution when bringing in their next gaffer.

He believes the club will shy away from a controversial figure after being stung by Jose Mourinho and Luis Van Gaal. He said: "They won't bring a hitman in. They will stick with Ole and he has to win something this season."

By PAUL THOMAS

"Any other club he'd be in trouble after the Liverpool match."

"Jose was the best manager in the world and couldn't do it. I wouldn't bring Conte in to United."

"He's not a fit for United. I might be wrong but I really don't think that he is."

"I think it would be wrong to sack Ole now. I sacked a manager after six games last season, it was the wrong thing to do, I should've let things breathe."

Mark Bosnich played alongside Ole at United and is another who thinks he'll get time — but not very long.

The Aussie goalkeeper could not believe what he was seeing against Liverpool. He added: "It was devastating."

"There was a time during the first half that it was ugly but I thought it was going to get to six, seven or eight goals. It is a very dark day, there is no doubt about it. He is an ex-team-mate and I want him to do well."

"If this continues there is no other choice for the board — we don't know whether Manchester United have already approached people about the possibility of taking over."

"There are three tough games coming up — Tottenham away, Atalanta and then Manchester City before the international break."

"If they lose those three games, which right now is a massive possibility, I don't really see there being any other choice."

Bosnich fears that Solskjaer has lost the dressing room.

He added: "The bottom line is, you can talk about tactics and identity, but if the players aren't executing it, not doing the basic things and look as though they didn't want to play for the manager, all of the other things you can rule out."

"The question has to be asked: 'what is going on?'"

"There seems to be deeper problems than having an identity and a way of playing, it seems at the moment the players are looking for a way out."

Pressing

Solskjaer has had backing from high places — including Captain Marvel himself.

United legend Bryan Robson says there's nobody better around than the Norwegian at the moment and he should stay on.

But the former Red Devils and England skipper wants to see big changes on the field.

He said: "The pressing game that

FOR UNDER-FIRE GAFFER SOLSKJAER

LONELY JOB: Most pundits expect Ole Gunnar Solskjaer to get the sack

United have tried to adopt just isn't working. The players are not adjusting to whatever Ole is asking them to do and the system needs to change. "The best performances from this team in recent seasons have come from being compact, strong defensively and hitting teams on the counter attack.

"But it's not the time to sack Ole. I do believe he will keep his job. "It's easy to clamour for the manager to go after such a painful defeat but change now causes upheaval. "The club have found that changes every couple of years just don't work and who do you replace him with?

"I'm not sure there's a candidate who can make such a significant difference without causing major disruption again." But Robson had a sad message for United fans and thinks there's no getting away from the fact there are three Premier League teams on a different level.

He added: "We have to accept Liverpool, Chelsea and City are still a way ahead of us. That gap, for me, would close if we changed system.

"Harry Maguire has apologised on behalf of the players and they will have to regroup and admit they have to work a damn sight harder.

Winning

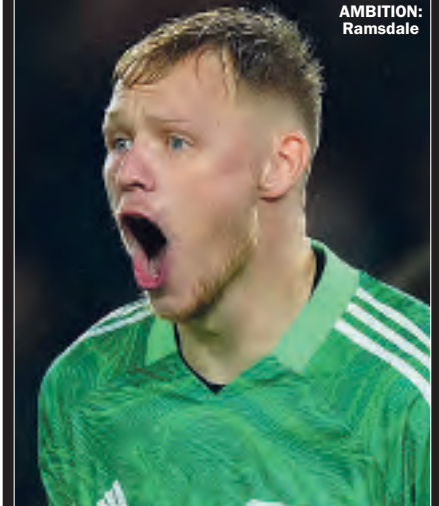

"To be a United player isn't just about winning the odd game, it's about winning trophies and if you can't do that then you're just talking the talk. There's no room for talk any more — this needs actions.

"Cristiano Ronaldo isn't the issue. He's come with a passion to win trophies and it's up to his team-mates to show they are up to the task too. It must be a watershed moment for United."

AMBITION: Ramsdale

Aaron eyes a Ram raid on Pickford place

AARON Ramsdale wants to steal Jordan Pickford's England No1 shirt in time for next year's World Cup in Qatar.

The gloveman has been a revelation since his move from Sheffield United to Arsenal this summer.

He has replaced Bernd Leno as the Gunners first-choice and now has his eye on a regular start for the Three Lions.

He wants to build on his last-minute call into Gareth Southgate's Euro 2020 squad by making sure he's on the plane to Qatar next winter.

Ramsdale said: "It was some of the best weeks of my life.

"I keep saying it was a great lad's holiday! That's just the team spirit we had, and we were just a few kicks away from achieving something great.

"It's just added momentum and hunger to do well in the World Cup and hopefully I can be a part of that again and hopefully that'll be to do with a starting role."

Picking

Ramsdale has quickly become a fans' favourite at the Emirates and feeds off that support.

He said: "I'm loving the connection I've got with the fans but ultimately, they are not the ones picking the team.

"If I keep the manager happy, which I'm doing now, I'll be doing well."

Ramsdale knows he's far from established as Arsenal's No1 yet with Germany international Leno breathing down his neck. He said: "It could quite easily be taken away, just as quickly as I got in.

TARGET: Pickford

"For me, it's to stay in the team week-by-week and keep producing good performances which the team and the staff are happy with.

"That's all I'm bothered about. I'm loving the connection I've got with the fans there, like I did here, but ultimately, they are not the ones picking the team.

"If I keep the manager happy, which I'm doing now, I'll be doing well."

Arsenal legend David Seaman is a big fan of Ramsdale.

He thinks he's been a big part of the Gunners' revival in recent weeks.

Seaman said: "I have seen him in training and in games as well, and I'm really impressed.

"He's improved a lot. He's got a great character and looks to be settling well.

A lot of Arsenal fans weren't too sure about him signing but he's proved them wrong so far."
